Theatre, event venues, radio and television stations could be your workplace. If you enjoy working behind the scenes and want to get an exciting glimpse behind the scenes of events, then a career as an event technician is perfect for you! You will ensure that stages, lighting, sound and technology all work smoothly – and all from a ‘backstage’ perspective. You will plan and build stages, install lighting and sound equipment, and take responsibility for the safety of the technology.

And the best part is that every day brings new challenges and exciting projects where you never know what's coming next! If you are flexible and enjoy working with digital media in a state-of-the-art environment, then event technician is the right job for you.
